

Displays and Symbols

Displays are the graphic regions or windows that make up the overall layout of the FactoryStudio user interface. Symbols are the individual elements included in a display. The following sections describe how to work with the user interface:

In this section...